DEDICATION

We have been told many times that it will be the job of our generation to keep the peace after the war is over. But most of us are beginning to realize that our generation will not only have to keep peace after the war, but do most of the fighting to win it! More and more boys out of our class and the classes just ahead and behind us have entered the armed forces, and are either on the actual battlefields, or in training for them.

These are the boys of the Class of '45 who went into the service before the beginning of this school year. "Chuck" Foltz entered the Navy in September, 1943. He received "boot training" at Great Lakes Naval Training Station. From there he went to Mississippi for armed guard training. Then he was sent to California and shipped out. He was overseas for eight months, but since last November he has been stationed at Port Chicago, California. Jack Krick entered "boot training" at Great Lakes in June, 1944. He then was sent to Norman, Oklahoma, for radar school. He now is stationed at Virginia Beach, Virgina. Bill Scott joined the Marines in September, 1943, and received training at Santiago, California. He now is fighting on Iwo Jima.

To these boys, to the boys who left during this school year, and to the ones who will be leaving soon, this book is dedicated. They are helping to build for the future and the peace of the whole world. We are very proud of them, and deeply grateful.

SCHOOL BOARD

Superintendent McKenney and the three members of the board of education compose the executive body of Auburn High School. They formulate the school's policy and financial program.

Mr. E. A. Husselman, president of the board, has run a fine monument business in Auburn for several years. He has wide business connections and many friends. For relaxation from the cares of business he chooses fly fishing in the northern Indiana lakes. He takes a special interest in all the activities of the school.

Upon the shoulders of Mr. D. K. Armstrong, secretary of the board, rests the responsibility of running a grocery business amid the restrictions and regulations of war time. He likes to still-fish now and then to forget these heavy duties. Mr. Armstrong is deeply interested in boys and their activities.

Mr. Haggarty is well fitted for the position of treasurer, as he started as a bank clerk and worked up to the presidency of the bank. He is an ardent golfer, and it would take a better than average player to touch him in that field. Mr. Haggarty believes that the best is none too good in a school system.

Mr. H. L. McKenney, the executive officer, is an earnest Scotchman with an infinite capacity for hard work. He is the fortunate possessor of a great sense of humor, and is well known among the students and townspeople not only for his long years of achievements, but also for the bits of sly wit that pop in here and there in his conversation.

ADMINISTRATION

This year brought eight new members to the faculty of Auburn High School. Eleanor Berkeypile took over the art classes, which had been absent from the curriculum ever since Miss Sellers left.

Mrs. Cook undertook the duties of home economics teacher and sponsor of the Home Economics Club. She left in March to join her husband, who is in the armed forces, and Miss Phyliss Linville took her place.

Miss Eleanor Cecil hailed from Muncie, Indiana, to reorganize our band for us.

Mrs. Mayme Lillotte capably took over the public speaking classes, and gave us many fine programs.

Miss Margaret Jones came to us from Georgia, and very ably assumed her duties as girls' physical education instructress and sponsor of the G.A.A.

Mrs. Artella Teeters replaced Mr. Coar as mathematics teacher.

Mrs. Weiler left in February to join her husband, and Miss Henrietta Adams replaced her as music supervisor.

It goes without saying, the older members of the faculty have continued to do their part in keeping up the high standards of Auburn High School.

ADMINISTRATION

Our assembly program this year has been one of the best the school ever offered.

Through Rotary's Institute of International Understanding we were fortunate to receive four special speakers. Mr. Davidian gave us a better understanding of Russia, Miss Rose Hum Lee told us about the hardships of war in China, we learned much about Australia from Mr. Arthur O'Connor, and heard about first-hand experiences in the liberation of Paris from Mr. H. G. Scott.

The Assembly Service brought us the ever popular Mr. Zimmerman, who told us this year about hunting for sunken Nazi submarines to get valuable information. Jack Marrow, who was a correspondent in the Orient for about 17 years, gave us very interesting information about inside Japan.

ADMINISTRATION

The Parent-Teachers' Association carried on its usual fine standard of work this year.

Did you notice those flowers on the teachers' desks the first day of school? Rather brightened up the scene, didn't they? Well, that is just one example of the many things the P.T.A. does.

It not only gave a donation to the Red Cross, but the members took care of the entire residential district during the Red Cross drive. The P.T.A. also gave donations to the Riley Memorial Hospital and the Infantile Paralysis Fund.

The officers for this year were Mrs. Francis Shugart, president; Mrs. Allen Trout, first vice president; Mr. Lloyd Miller, second vice president; Mrs. William Cooper, secretary; and Mrs. Walter Ball, treasurer.

RICHARD BEERBOWER

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4; Annual Staff 4.

Home Economics seems to have "snatched first place" in Lenora's heart; some boy will be very lucky. She's a prize winner also, as she held her own in the interscholastic group for four years.

HONOR GROUP

VIVIAN ALBRIGHT

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; Home Economics Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Art 2.

Vivian is one of the more quiet girls of the senior class. It seems as if her main goal in life is to own and operate a grocery store. Well, here's all the luck in the world to her.

RONALD BALL

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4; Band 1, 2, 3; Noon League 1, 2; Class League 2; Stamp Cashier 3, 4.

Pat has been with us only two years, but in that short time she has proved efficient in everything she has undertaken. She has been successful both scholastically and socially.

SENIORS

JACK BLAIR

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4; Hi-Y 3, 4; Band 1, 2.

Jack has kept his corner of the physics room in constant turmoil. When Jack is on the prowl, mischief is afoot. He also has a serious side, but try to find it. He is waiting for the call to the colors. He insists that the U. S. Infantry is the best division of service.

BEVERLY BOLLEY

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4; Girl Reserves 2, 3; Librarian 2; Stamp Cashier 4; Chorus 2; Junior-Senior Play 4; Tri-Hi-Y 4; Tri-Hi-Y Officer 4.

Who would like a "snazzy" nurse. Well, that profession seems to hold "Bev's" attention. She proved a capable actress in the Junior-Senior Play this year. Anyone in first period chemistry class knows how "Bev" dislikes water thrown on her.

JOSEPHINE BOREN

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4; G.R. 2, 3; Home Ec. Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Home Ec. Reporter 2; Home Ec. Vice Pres. 3, 4; Class Play 4; Bond Seller 3; Fire Warden 3, 4.

Bob says he never will get too old to enjoy building model airplanes. This is just a reflection of his ambition which will be found in the field of aviation. He also finds satisfaction in playing his cornet.

JANET CARMER

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4; G.R. 2, 3; G.A.A. 1, 2; Bank Cashier 1, 2; Junior-Senior Play 3, 4; G.R. Pres. 3; Band 1, 2; Annual Staff 4; Tri-Hi-Y 4; G.A.A. Secretary 2; Librarian 4; Fire Warden 4.

This vivacious brunette's favorite pastime is having a good time, can you blame her? Janet loathes people who laugh at their own jokes! She hopes to become a journalist.

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4; Annual Staff 3, 4; Class Officer 3; Honor Group 1, 2.

Dale's first joy is canoeing on a moonlite lake. He dispises people who make nasty remarks when he comes up with the right answers. He idolizes no one and looks forward to a career in electrical engineering.

DOROTHY CLARK

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; Tri-Hi-Y 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4.

Dorothy, although quiet around school, is not at all shy when she has a uke in her hand and is before an audience. She makes a valuable guard in any basketball game.

NORMAN COOPER

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4; Football 3, 4; Track 2, 3, 4; Lettermen's Club 2, 3, 4; Football Manager 2; Basketball Manager 2; Rotary Discussion 2.

"Broad" filled one of the tackle positions very nicely. In fact, he took up more than his share of the room. His work in the Junior-Senior Play is proof of his dramatic ability. His deafening whistle has ended many a period of comparative quietness. "Coop" hopes to play profootball.

DONALD CORKWELL

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4; Football 1, 2, 3, 4; Basketball 1, 2, 3, 4; Track 1, 2, 3; Lettermen's Club 2, 3, 4; Hi-Y 3, 4; Shop 2; Art 1.

"Corky" was one of the star atheletes in A.H.S.

He was equally adept at football, basketball, and track. He had to leave for the U.S. Navy shortly after the football season. His ideal person is Zeke Young. It looks as if his ambition is already answered, as he became a gunner in the Navy.

BILL COUGILL

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4; Football 1, 2, 3, 4; Lettermen's Club 4; Track 2; Annual Staff 4.

Bill is the proud possessor of one of the many bright red football sweaters now parading the halls of A.H.S. His skilled ball handling won for him the right to wear it. A Freshie now holds his interest. He has aspirations of becoming a florist.

ANNABELLE DONALDSON

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; G.R. 1; Home Ec. Club 1, 2, 3, 4. Annabelle may be found on almost any night of the week at the skating rink. She is happiest when eating chocolate sundaes and would like to get a rating in the C.A.P.

JEAN EMERSON

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4; G.R. 2, 3; Home Ec. Club 1, 2, 3, 4.

Jean would make an excellent nurse as she is quiet and friendly. Late comers have no place in her life as they are her pet peeve.

JO ANNE FAULKNER

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; G.R. 2, 3; G. R. Pres. 2; A.A.A. 1, 2; Tri-Hi-Y 4.

Art 4; Class Officer 2; Annual Staff 4; A.A.A. President 4; Fire Warden 3, 4.

Lauren is a man of many nicknames. Although we've seen little sign of it, "Radar" insists he enjoys staying away from girls. Lauren's ambition is to have a reasonable facsimile of what Harry James possesses and he doesn't mean his trumpet. He handles the job of A.A.A. presidency very nicely.

HELEN GRAHAM

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4; Home Ec. 1, 2, 3, 4; Orchestra 1, 2; Chorus 3, 4; Home Ec. Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Tri-Hi-Y 4.

JO ANN HOLDEMAN

A.H.S. 3, 4; G.R. 3; Tri-Hi-Y 4; A.A.A. 3, 4; Junior-Senior Play 4. Jo has been with us only two years, but in that time she has made a place for herself in everything. She takes a great interest in art, dancing, and "gabbing." She is a loyal supporter of the navy and desires to be a lady.

RICHARD HOUTZER

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; A.A.A. 1, 2, 3, 4; Football 4; Interscholastic Groups 3; Class Treasurer 3; Riley Program 4.

Dick enjoys studying history. He loves nothing better than a good argument. His one ambition is to play Scrooge in Dickens' "Christmas Carol" on Broadway.

DeVONNA KALB

A.H.S. 1, 2, 3, 4; G.A.A. 2; G.R. 2; Chorus 1; Tri-Hi-Y 4.

People lacking personality are DeVonna's pet peeve, and she is most happy when out of school. Her hobby is dancing, and she does it very nicely, too! The college she attends will be lucky in acquiring her.

JUNIORS

After three successful years of school life in A.H.S. these upper classmen are ready to take the place of honor in school as seniors.

At their first class meeting of the year they chose as president, Richard Simanton; vice president, Max Glass; secretary, Jo Jatrick; and treasurer, Johnny Hines. Mr. Schooley was elected sponsor for the class, and Mrs. Glass and Mrs. Broderick, the class mothers.

This class has been a very outstanding one in sports as well as scholastically, and with three years of high school behind them they are veterans. All eyes are turned toward the senior class of 1946!

SOPHOMORES

The Sophomores under the leadership of the adviser, Mr. Weathers, and Vito Palumbo, the class president, have finished their second year in high school with flying colors. They chose a very capable group of officers: Vito Palumbo, president; Geneva Hammand, vice president; Dorothy Beardsley, secretary; and Sue Wertenberger, treasurer. Mrs. Hooker and Mrs. Mochamer served as class mothers.

The sophomores were well represented on the gridiron and hardwood, and many are expected to report for track.

FRESHMEN

As the others who have come before them, this year's freshmen were enveloped in a "green fog," but everyone will agree that they have quickly acquired the usual characteristics of high school students.

To guide them in their first year of high school, the freshmen chose as president, Fred Butler; vice president, Joe Kleeman; secretary, Jack Thomas; and treasurer, John Bower. The class sponsor was Mrs. Mayme Lillotte, and the closs mothers were Mrs. Glass and Mrs. Clifford Kieffer.

The freshmen pitched in enthusiastically in every activity of the school. With this fine bunch of boys and girls in the freshman class, we can say that the graduating class of '48 will be an excellent one!

SCHOOL LIFE

FALL

SEPTEMBER

- 5—Look at those green faces! You guessed it. School starts again with new faces and a new school year. Tough luck you guys! Vacations are always over too soon. But don't worry, they say these are the best days of our life. The seniors met in the assembly tonight to elect leaders for the coming year. They chose Jack Smith, president; Richard McKenzie, vice president; Bill McCleary, secretary; and Peg Swartz, treasurer.
- 6—The juniors chose their officers tonight. They elected Richard Simanton, president; Max Glass, vice president; Joann Patrick, secretary; and John Hines, treasurer.
- 7—The sophomores chose the following leaders for the coming year: Vito Palumbo, president; Geneva Hamman, vice president; Dorothy Beardsley, secretary; and Sue Wertenberger, treasurer.
- 8-Ah! The freshies met tonight to elect offi-

- cers, and it looks as if the boys hold the upper hand, as Fred Butler, Joe Kleeman, Jack Thomas, and John Bower were chosen for their respective posts. The Red Devils opened their football season on the right foot as they trounced a strong Columbia City eleven, 25-0.
- 15—Montpelier scared us tonight by scoring first, but the Red Devils came back strongly to win 20-6.
- 19—Oh! Oh! The teachers certainly will have trouble with the students this week. You ask why! Well, the fair's in town, and how our minds do wander.
- 22—The Decatur Yellow Jackets came to town tonight, and they were sent back home on the short end of 33-0. There was a big dance and floor show after the game for both Decatur and Auburn high school students.
- 29—The Auburnites traveled to Bluffton tonight and came home victorious by a score of 14-6.

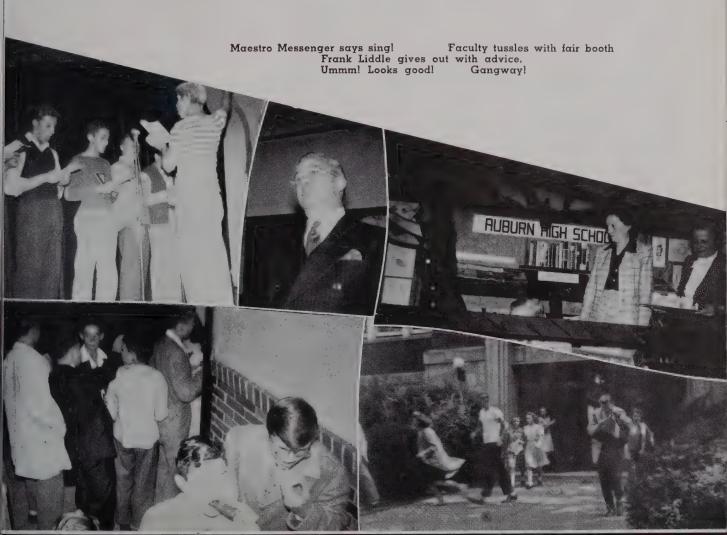

OCTOBER

- 2—Come one you Garsons and would-be Van Johnsons! Play tryouts were held tonight and there was a big turnout. Mrs. Lillotte, after much contemplation, decided on her cast, and because there were so many girls she double-cast their parts.
- 6—The speech class gave an enjoyable program on the eminent Hoosier poet, James Whitcomb Riley. Mud pies were the occasion at Bryan, Ohio, but the Red Devils splashed through to a hard earned 7-0 victory.
- 20—Our hopes for an undefeated season were shattered tonight when Warsaw squeezed a 7-0 victory over us.
- 25—Ah! Sweet revenge! The Red Devils avenged two straight wins of Garrett by whipping them 7-0. It also meant the undisputed championship of the N.E.I.C.
- 31—We all were treated to a most enjoyable talk given by a frequent visitor to our as-semblies, Mr. Robert Zimmerman, the deep sea diver. We were all sorry to hear that this was to be his last year to talk before schools.

NOVEMBER

- 9-10—The Junior-Senior play, "Best Foot Forward," was given these two nights. It came off very successfully and was thoroughly enjoyed by all who saw it.
- 11—Auburn got off on the right foot as the Ashley Aces were trimmed to the tune of 58-24.
- 22—Butler scared us tonight by tieing the score at 29, when the time was up. But the boys came through in the overtime by scoring two quick buckets. The final score was 33-29.
- 23-24—Mml That turkey sure was good! The students enjoyed Thanksgiving and the after-effects by not going to school these two days. On the 24th Auburn sent Central Catholic home with a stinging 57-25 defeat.

WINTER

DECEMBER

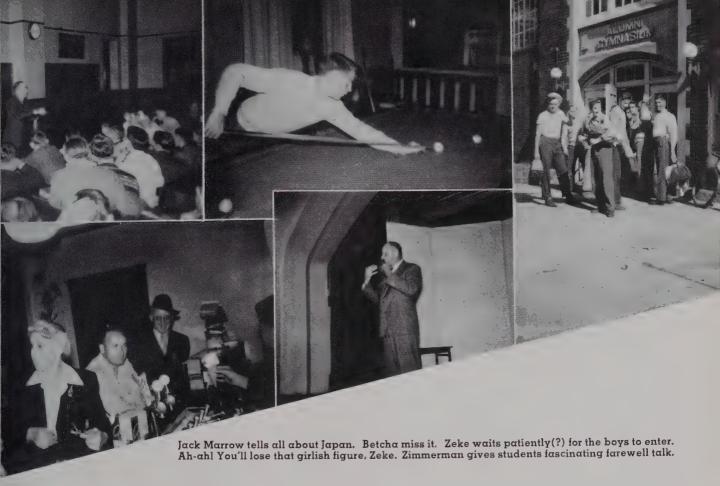

- 1—The team must have been under the weather, as they didn't display the type of ball of which they were capable, but they managed to squeeze past Angola 31-29.
- 13—The students were all heartbroken as the last of the fifth and part of the sixth periods were taken out for a speaker, Jack Marrow, who spoke on "Inside Japan."
- 15-16—The Red Devils made it a perfect week end by trouncing the New Haven Bulldogs soundly by a score of 39-26, and scalping the North Side Redskins 41-38.
- 20—We were all heartbroken tonight as the Elkhart Blue Blazers squeezed out a 34-33 victory over us and cut our winning streak at eight straight. School closed today for the holidays, and may we wish you all a very merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

JANUARY

2-Vacation is over and again we enter the

- portals of A.H.S. Look at those smiles while they're still there.
- 4—Stand back, girls! Let the boys touch them first. The long awaited football letters and silver footballs were given out today. Just look at those girls' eyes gleam.
- 5—The Auburnites took up where they left off last year by taming the Waterloo Wildcats by a score of 53-43.
- 10—The Rotary Club sponsored four speakers to talk in Auburn for four consecutive Wednesday evenings. The first of the four lecturers was Simon M. Davidian, who gave us a very interesting talk on Russia.
- 12—The Red Devils were in fine form tonight as they thumped the Garrett Railroaders 38-24.
- 13—Another perfect week end was accomplished. Auburn beat Central of Fort Wayne 56-35. It was only 35-15 at the half.
- 17—The second of the Rotary lecturers spoke before us today as we heard a talk on China by a very charming Chinese lady,

WINTER

Rose Hum Lee. A report was received today by the school superintendent, Mr. Mc-Kenney, that his son, Staff Sgt. Kent McKenney, was killed in action. Our deepest sympathy goes to Mr. McKenney and his family.

- 19—The Red Devils traveled to Kendallville tonight and came home on the long end of α 42-30 score.
- 24—The third lecturer was H. O'Connor, who gave us an interesting talk on Australia.
- 26—The Warsaw Tigers kind of chewed us up, as we suffered our second loss of the year, 47-46.
- 31—The last Rotary speaker was H. G. Scott. He gave us a very vivid description of the liberation of Paris, as he was an eye witness. His talk was most interesting to us.

FEBRUARY

- 2—Back on the beam again, we decisively beat Decatur 59-19.
- 7—Tickets for the sectional at Garrett were an-

- nounced. The 500 allotted to Auburn were gone in about two hours, the students getting 250 and the adults the remainder.
- 9—After a 16-16 tie at the half, Auburn really turned on the heat in the last half to win over Columbia City in a score of 52-32.
- 12—In commemoration of Lincoln, the public speaking class gave a program of poetry and stories in tribute to that great president.
- 15—Today Dr. LaFollett of Ball State spoke to us on Democracy in Stormy Weather. It was a very timely message which struck home to us all.
- 22-23-24—Everyone was delirious over winning the sectional this week end, though we kinda' expected it. The whole team, even Showalter, was carried to the big bonfire on the shoulders of the students. Needless to say, a good time was had by all!
- 27—We rather expected the assembly that was called this morning. Congratulations to the team, hints on conduct at tourney time, and a few pointers on future victory fires were in order.

SPRING

MARCH

- 2—A pep session was called to prepare us for the battles of the regional tourney games but, try as leaders would, they couldn't get us to over-exercise our vocal chords. We were saving them for the real thing.
- 3—Our boys walked right on through the regional tournament without even blinking an eye. Our enthusiasm mounted each minute and by the time the Victory fire had been built we would have handed the world on a silver platter to the boys on the team.
- 5—Excitement ran high this morning as we were congratulated on our victory and behavior in a special assembly. It is hard to settle down to work, but the faculty helps us do that.
- 10—There was much weeping and wailing today as the Red Devils hit an "off day" and were eliminated from the semi-finals by

- the Mucie Bearcats. (The less said the better!)

SUMMER SCHOOL

What, school in summertime? All through the winter, students and faculty look forward to those nice vacation mornings to sleep or do odd jobs around home and garden, but this year those things were just pleasant dreams for some of the students, Mr. Schooley, and Mr. Showalter.

Summer school was held primarily in order to give boys going into the armed forces an opportunity to finish their school credits before leaving. However, anyone could come who wished to make extra credits.

Eighteen students took advantage of the six courses offered. Mr. Schooley taught trigonometry, physics and plane geometry, and Mr. Showalter taught typing, civics and geography.

Gene Beaty, Robert Browand, and William Cooper took plane geometry. Richard Beerbower, Jack Blair, William Cooper, Richard Houtzer, George Rodecap, William Schaab and Robert Simanton took physics. In the summer civics class there were Jack Blair, Mervin Carnahan, Richard Houtzer, Byron Hunt, Ted Messenger, Russell Predmore, George Rodecap, William Schaab, and Robert Simanton. Those who took typing were Mervin Carnahan, Byron Hunt, Harry Krider, Ted Messenger, Russell Predmore, and Madelyn Houtzer. Richard Beerbower, William Cougill, DeLoss Herbolsheimer, George Rodecap, William Schaab, Robert Simanton, and Stanley Yoder took trigonometry. Those who took geography were Jack Blair, Mervin Carnahan, Richard Houtzer, Byron Hunt, Harry Krider, Ted Messenger, Russell Predmore, and George Rodecap.

Time out for a picture. All awake for once.

EDITORIAL

In the Follies of 1945, we present to you the common everyday happenings of school life. They are the activities you enjoy doing now, the things that are helping to mold your future, and a past you will like to look back upon some day.

The staff is deeply grateful to Mr. Miller and Miss Duguid for their untiring aid with our multiple problems, and their unfailing good nature with our mistakes and foibles.

We wish to thank Mr. Fritz of the Fort Wayne Engraving Company for his valuable help in the arrangement and engraving of our pictures.

To the Auburn Printing Company for printing our book, and to the S. K. Smith Company for making the covers for our book, we all owe our sincere gratitude.

And none of us must forget the thanks we owe to Mrs. Davis and Mr. Kline for helping us with the photography of our yearbook.

HI-Y

The 1944-45 Hi-Y began a very progressive year by electing for the first semester the following officers: president, Robert Simanton, vice president, Robert Haynes; secretary, David Miller; treasurer, John Hines; and sergeant-at-arms, Dick Haynes.

The meetings were held every two weeks on Tuesday nights. At these meetings the group discussed the problems of youth and the betterment of the community. The discussions followed the standards of clean speech, clean sports, clean living, and clean scholarship.

In the second semester the group elected Richard McKenzie, president; Dick Simanton, vice president; Ronald Armstrong, secretary; Robert Martin, treasurer; and Vito Palumbo, sergeant-at-arms.

Mr. Showalter served as sponsor for the year, which included a packed schedule of potlucks and dances.

The boys worked hard and lived up to their motto: To create, maintain, and extend throughout the community high standards of Christian character.

The boys who won awards in basketball were William Wattier, Robert Simanton, John Happy meeting. Officers of Tri-Hi-Y.

TRI-HI-Y

A new club was organized at Auburn High School this year in the form of Tri-Hi-Y for girls. It is in coordination with the Hi-Y for boys and replaces the Girl Reserves. The purpose of the club is for the betterment of Christian character and moral standards. Over fifty girls turned out, and there have been about that many at every meeting.

The club elected Irene Burtzner, president; Margaret Swartz, vice president; Patricia Boren, secretary; Beverly Bolley, treasurer; and Judy Ridenour, sergeant-at-arms. Miss Berkeypile was chosen as sponsor.

As this was the first year for such a club, most of the time was spent in organizing it. However, the girls found time for a very successful potluck dinner and a dance, at which all members of the Hi-Y were the special guests. For the Youth Week Variety Show the members planned a miniature "Gay Nineties Review." The club also had discussions on many of the serious problems of today.

G. A. A.

The Girl's Athletic Association of Auburn High School brings out the cooperation, sports-manship, and physical skill in every girl in the organization.

The officers selected to lead the activities of the organization were Jane Schooley, president; Ruth Wynne, vice president; Patricia Ohmart, secretary; Joyce Engle, treasurer. Miss Margaret Jones, the physical education teacher, was the sponsor.

The club held many interesting activities during the term. The girls had several potluck dinners besides the annual Christmas party.

Last year at the spring banquet, Rose Ann Kraus was presented with the Sportsmanship award, Jane Krick with the plaque for the outstanding athlete, and Jane Schooley with the plaque for the outstanding freshman.

BAND

The Auburn High School band was successfully reorganized by Miss Eleanor Cecil at the beginning of this year. Under her expert direction and with the full cooperation of all the members, the band has gained the respect of the students and the people of Auburn.

The band has participated at basketball and football games, patriotic programs, and the Christmas program. It has added color to our games and given greater enthusiasm to the spectators with its rousing marches. The band did excellent letter-formation marching, and the spectators were well pleased with the twirling accomplishments of the majorettes.

Some of the band's favorite numbers are, "Festival Overture," "National Emblem," "Monarch," "Branura," "King Cotton," and, most important of all, the "Star Spangled Banner." Not many of us will forget the way it played the school song before some hard-fought battle on the gridiron or hardwood.

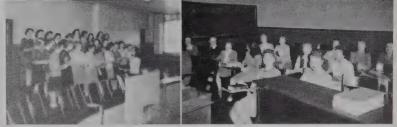

Majorettes take their stand. Miss Cecil leads the band.

Turn around, Jo! Marching formation.

What's the matter, Barbara? The triple trio.

GIRL'S CHORUS

The girl's chorus has successfuly entertained the public and members of the student body with beautiful songs and perfect harmony. Mrs. Weiler directed the chorus the first part of the year. She left in February to join her husband, and Miss Adams capably took over her duties.

Of particular interest was the "Triple Trio," consisting of nine voices, which entertained at the junior-senior play and various other programs in connection with school activities. Members of the "Triple Trio" are Betty Lou Dailey, Sue Alexander, Patricia Beardsley, June Smith, Betty Smith, Doris Grant, Anne Schooley, Helen Mason, and Betty Lou Snyder.

Among the many songs in the repertoire of the chorus, especial accomplishments were, "Panis Angelicus," Path Leading Down to the River," "The Sleigh," and "It Cannot Be a Strange Countree."

Expertly accompanying the chorus was the pianist, Jane Schooley.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club of 1944-45 met on the second and fourth Tuesday nights of each month. There were thirty-two members this year under the supervision of Mrs. Cook.

Officers chosen to serve were: president, Lenora Boger; vice president, Josephine Boren; secretary-treasurer, Helen Jeannette Mason; news reporter, Mary Alice Renner; candy manager, Kethleen Peters; assistant candy manager, Jean Emerson; program chairman, Gwen Wolf.

The program committee planned the club's recreation, which included potluck dinners, hay rides, chili supper, dances, and F.F.A. parties.

The club has not had all play and no work this year. As money making projects they sold candy after school and ice cream at ball games. To help the war effort the club sponsored the selling of stamps and bonds every Wednesday morning.

We are proud of our 4-H girls, who had a busy summer. Two of our girls, Helen Jeannette Mason and Lenora Boger, received trips to Chicago for outstanding achievements in 4-H work.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

Again this year, as in every year since 1931, Mr. Hornaday sent out a call for enrollment in the Future Farmers of America. This year 27 vocational agriculture students responded to the call.

The purposes of the F.F.A. are: to organize and promote various agricultural judging teams; to study rural leadership, including parliamentary procedure; to practice thrift; to discuss prominent agricultural developments; to enroll and supervise 4-H club members and to sponsor social events.

The following officers were elected: Dale Armstrong, president; Norman Stump, vice president; David Carmer, secretary; Donald Smith, treasurer; Joe Walter, reporter.

A special activity of the club is the 4-H show, which was held in Auburn from September 26 to September 30, inclusive. Local club members showed projects consisting of corn, calves, poultry, pigs, lambs, potatoes, and vegetables in competition with members of other schools in the county. This year Auburn more than held its own and walked off with 35 first, second, and third placings with a total cash value of over $50.

THE INTERSCHOLASTIC GROUP

We present the prize winners of A.H.S.!

The interscholastic group includes all of those people who have entered into competition with other schools and won either first or second prizes for their efforts. There was a large range of projects, and Auburn took its share of the prizes.

We have a representative number of fine artists. Included in this group are Sue Hamilton, Richard McKenzie, Carol Kessler, Joan Garns, Beryl Baughman, Edward Strauss, Jo Ann Holdeman, and Ellen

We have our poets, too, Jane Schooley and Rosemarie Shull.

Among the students also was found a talent for theme writing and penmanship. Those students are Nancy Hooker, Carol Cooper, Beryl Widdicombe, Carolyn Kokenge, Beverly Sellers, Susie Weathers, Madelyn Houtzer, Betty Haggarty, Anne Schooley, Richard Beerbower, Philip Butler, Max Glass, and Donna Musser.

Another outstanding division in this group was the vocational representation. These people were chosen by the prizes they won on their 4-H projects. They were Gwen Wolf, Kathleen Peters, Pat Culbertson, Norma Heffley, Ruth Wynne, Joe Walter, Gene Beaty, Paul Post, Kenneth Warner, Alice Kieffer, Elwood Brown, Helen Mason, Lenora Boger, Yvonne Harry, Donald Smith, and Dale Armstrong.

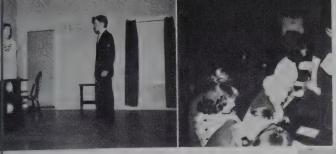

Everyone looks so-o-o busy. What's funny, sis?

JUNIOR - SENIOR PLAY — "BEST FOOT FORWARD"

"Best Foot Forward" was presented very successfully November 8, 9 and 10 before very large audiences by our new speech teacher, Mrs. Mayme Lillotte. Since so many turned out for the play tryouts, Mrs. Lillotte double-cast most of the girls' parts.

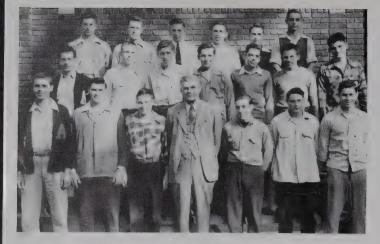

The play was a hilarious comedy about complications at a boys' school during prom time.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Better known as "shop," this course is one which appeals to most boys, and the majority of them take it sometime during their stay at A.H.S.

The first semester is devoted to mechanical drawing. The second semester is occupied by making wooden stools, clothes racks, book ends, magazine stands, etc. The students, un-

ART GROUP

After a year's interval without art, it appeared on the schedule of classes again this year. Under the supervision of Miss Eleanor Berkeypile, the art class was reorganized and resumed its customary high standards.

The art students have been kept very busy with outdoor sketching, designing, figure drawing, still life, pen and ink drawings, and clay modeling. Another project of the group was to make the advertising posters for the junior-senior play.

LIBRARIANS

Where's the book on Marco Polo's travels? With this the librarians' troubles are only beginning. However, those chosen to assist the students in the school library this year proved very efficient and capable.

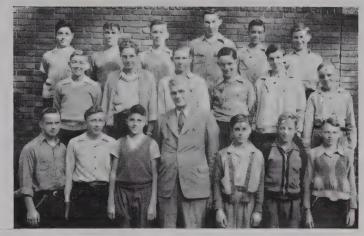

Auburn High School was very lucky to be blessed with such an appropriate and complete library, which has contributed much to classroom study and discus-

COMMERCIAL GROUP

Auburn High School really developed some fine commercial students under the giudance of Mr. Gumpp and Miss Buckley, as evidenced by the outstanding achievements in the fields of typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, and advanced secretarial training.

The outstanding students in shorthand were Gwen Wolf, Beverly Sellers, and Paula Girardot. Those who excelled in bookkeeping were DeLoss Herbolsheimer, Jean Scott, Dale Clark, Hubert Hess, Donna Musser, Louise Englert, Ronald Ball, and Betty Lou Dailey. Advanced secretarial training produced Irene Burtzner, Maxine Bowman, Constance Feagler, and Judy Ridenour.

PHYSICS GROUP

Because of the war, physics proved even more popular this year than ever among both boys and girls.

Physics is a study that gives understanding of the practical, everyday things of life. From the time the pupil opens the water faucet in the morning until he snaps off the light at night, he is applying some principle of physics. These principles may be connected with anything from the airplane to football.

BOND AND STAMP SALESMEN

Since the country is engaged in a total war, Auburn High School has tried to help and cooperate in what ways it could. Among others, it took over the task of selling bonds and stamps to the students and teachers every Wednesday morning.

This movement, which is sponsored by the Home Economics Club, has proved to be very successful this year. The highest record for any one day during the first semester was $320.05. The total amount of sales made during the first semester was $1,587.55.

Under the supervision of Miss Cecil, with Jean Scott, Lenora Boger, and Bessie Hathaway assisting, the Wednesday morning collections were efficiently taken care of. The salesmen for the home rooms were Carl McNutt, Paul King, Ronald Ball, David Miller, DeLoss Herbolsheimer, Phyllis Farrington, Beverly Bolley, Mary Jo Cool, Dorothy Beardsley, Jean Ann Trout, Gwedolyn Shambaugh, Beryl Widdecomb, Dorothy Graham, Maxine Swain, Maxine Bowman, Sue Hamilton, Carol Heffley, Bonnie Refner, Norma Heffley, Joan Boger, Ruth Clevenger, and Barbara Gonser.

ATHLETICS

COACH YOUNG

Coach Young, known to all and sundry as "Zeke," brought the football team through a wonderful season to the undisputed championship of the N.E.I.C.

His physical fitness program really keeps the boys in tip-top shape. Noon league, under his direction, has brought out hidden skill in many boys, as well as providing many thrills for sports fans.

Last year his track team won the N.E.I.C. and broke several conference records. He has high hopes for this year.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Auburn High School Athletic Association, better known as A.A.A., chose Lauren Griffith for president and Anne Schooley for secretary. Our principal, Mr. Miller, officially manages the association, and Mr. Schooley is the faculty treasurer. The association is made up of members of the football, basketball, and track teams, and all the student body. The organization strives to pep up enthusiasm in the athletic features of the school year. Not many of us will forget Mr. Schooley's railroad yell.

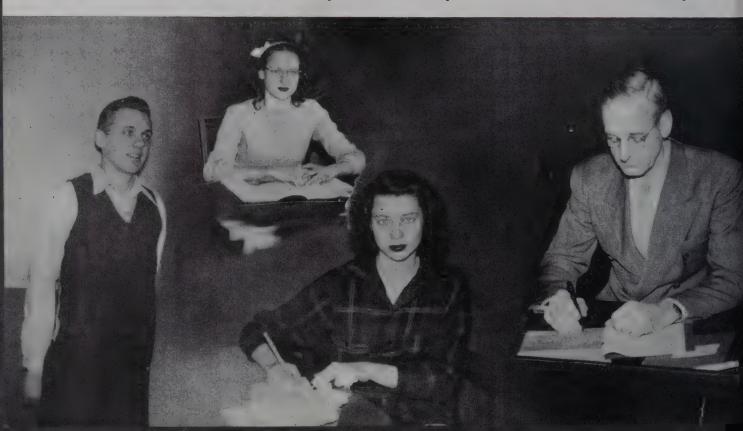

A newcomer, Miss Jones, our physical education instructress, has charge of the Girls' Athletic Association. Jane Schooley was elected president of G.A.A. this year; she is assisted by Ruth Wynne, vice president; Patricia Ohmart, secretary; and Joyce Engle, treasurer.

COACH SHOWALTER

This year Coach Showalter produced a basket-ball team that went to the semi-finals at Muncie. This is the first time Auburn has been there since 1939. His boys were defeated only twice during the regular season, and they set a record by beating all four of the Fort Wayne teams.

In addition to his athletic duties, Mr. Showalter impresses freshmen with importance of safety and good manners and teaches world history and geography.

MANAGERS AND YELL LEADERS

Of the various school activities, those of student manager and yell leader, who are chosen each year by coaches Young and Showalter, are the two most interesting. This year's selections have proved to be very competent.

The choice of Richard McKenzie for football manager for the second year is evidence of how well he has carried out the responsibilities of this important job. The track equipment was very efficiently managed by George Rodecap.

David Miller has been a most capable manager of the basketball team and has proved his worth to the boys. David was assisted by Eugene Frederick.

Those who attend basketball games realize how important the job of yell leading is. Paul King was aided by Joan Mochamer this year. Both of these yell leaders have done a fine job of giving enthusiasm to the cheering section and team.

FOOTBALL

About 45 boys answered Coach "Zeke" Young's call to the gridiron. Mixing size and speed together gave us a team that won 7 games and lost 1 for an excellent season.

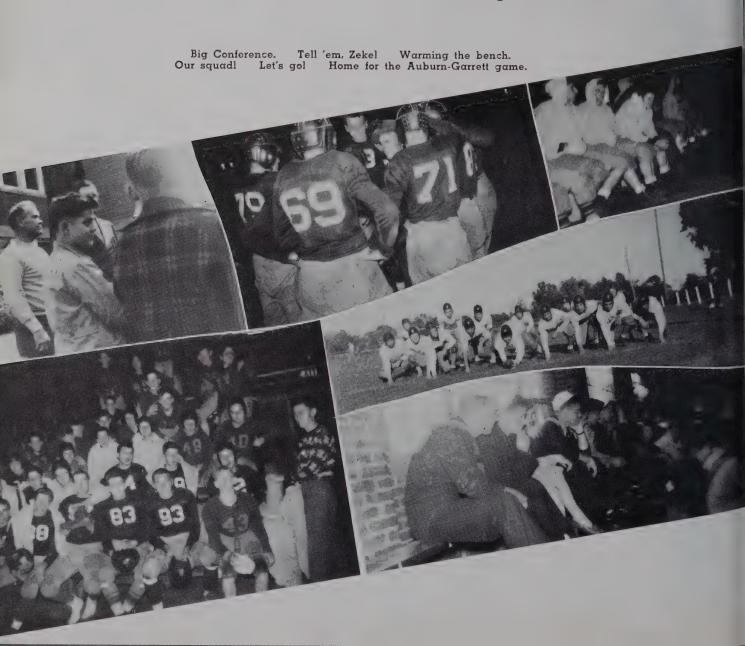

The first game of the season with Columbia City was at home. The Red Devils repeated last year's performance by defeating them 25-0.

On September 15, Montpelier came to town and was sent home on the short end of a 20-6 score.

September 22 found Decatur coming to town. The Red Devils avenged the last year's defeat by lacing the Yellow Jackets 33-0.

The first out-of-town game on September 29 found the Red Devils journeying to Bluffton. They came back on the long end of a 14-6 score.

On October 6, Auburn again went out of town, Bryan, Ohio, was the target and the Red Devils made a bulls eye by defeating them 7-0.

October 13 found the Central "B" team coming to Auburn. They were soundly whipped 27-6.

TRACK

When the call for trackmen came, a veteran crop of thinlies turned out to try for places on the varsity squad. As several lettermen returned, Coach Young expected a successful season.

The Red Devil thinlies proved themselves better than expected by going undefeated on the Earl Carr Field. They won the Northeastern Indiana Conference, set several new conference records, and established a new school record.

After the preliminary weeks of workouts and trials, Auburn journeyed to Fort Wayne on April 14 to participate in a triangular meet with South Side and Garrett. South Side won the meet with $78\frac{1}{2}$ points, Auburn too second place with $23\frac{1}{2}$, and Garrett took third place with 13 points.

The following week the Red Devils won a triangular meet with Butler and Garrett at the Earl Carr Field. Auburn amassed 60 points to Butler's $30\frac{1}{2}$ and Garrett's $25\frac{1}{2}$.

On April 29 "Zeke" took 14 boys to Kokomo for the Kokomo Relays. The red clad thinlies took seventh place in this classic with 9 points to their credit.

May 4 found the Red Devils journeying to Bluffton for the Northeastern Indiana Conference meet. They scored 70 points to win easily. They also shattered three conference records, one of which sets a new school record.

The following week Auburn defeated Kendallville 83-32. The locals took first in every event but one in this meet.

White winged A's and silver track shoes were given to the seniors and letters were awarded to the underclassmen who scored in a varsity track meet.

UNCLE WILL'S TEDIOUS TALES - - FOR YOUNG AND OLD [SECOND CHILDHOOD]

A SAGA OF THE OLD WEST

"Whoa, Ginger, I dropped silver-plated toothpick what cost me a whole quarter,' says Tex on his long journey across the desert to the ghost town of Bleached Skeleton Gulch. As he slides gracefully off the back of his horse and lands on the ground with a thud, we notice that he is carrying his trusty, shining six shooter. As he has been carrying it for only a year or so, there are only eighteen notches in it.

The sun is sinking in the west, a beautiful red ball on the horizon. "Gawsh, ain't it purty!" drools Tex.

At last he arrives at his destination. It is now night. The silver moon is full and there are a few stars twinkling here and there—mostly there. (As usual, the wolves are doing overtime tonight.) It is quite cool and Tex, having lost his shirt in a crap game along the way, shivers in his red woolies.

Draw closer, dear reader, and we will peek over Tex's shoulder through the crack in the dirt-stained window of the old ramshackle hotel. A glimmer of lamp light is showing through, and as we look we see the slim but healthy figure of our hero, Dauntless Dick Houtzer, otherwise known as "Sly Eye" Dick. All unsuspecting of his danger, he counts his hoarded gold nuggets. Sly Eye has accumulated an immense fortune from the people of Bleached Skeleton Gulch since he is mayor, city and county counselor, and Hi-Y Sergeant-at-arms.

"Eight, nine, ten — oh shucks, now I'll have to take off my shoes," says Sly Eye. "I guess I'll have to order me a pair of those purty toeless ones from the mail order catalog so it won't take me so long to count my life's savings."

Near by, Dick's faithful Indian squaw housekeeper, "Three Feathers," fondly called "Moonshine" by Dauntless Dick, is setting the table for the evening meal.

"Gawsh," says Tex, "this is better than I had hoped for. Not only will I get food and water, but this is a good way to get some extra dough. It'll be a cinch to take it from that poor delicate dumb sucker." The heartless fiend! How could he look upon such a scene with such cruel thoughts in mind?

"Well, I may as well go in," says the villain of our story. With this intelligent remark, he stalks to the door, kicks it open, and falls dramatically on his face.

"Howdy, stranger," welcomes Dauntless. Always the perfect host, he thoughtfully kicks Tex over so that Tex might look in his face rather than bury his face in the dirt floor.

"Yil" screams Tex, and with a lurch turns over and grovels his face in the terra firma.

Moonshine, who up to this time has viewed this touching scene with no comment, now ramarks, "Ugh," as she picks Tex up by the hair (what long shaggy wooll) and stands him on his size 12's.

"Moonshine, set another place at the table. We have a most insistent guest dining with us tonight," says Sly Eye Houtzer.

"Well, gawsh, thanks two million," exclaims Tex, still trembling from his encounter with Moonshine. "I'll eat my supper first, then get the gold," thinks Tex devilishly. (Oh, yes, he could think.)

After supper Moonshine gathers up the dishes and piles them in the cluttered sink (the outside well) while Dauntless sits down to read the January 29, 1851, issue of the local newspaper, "The Loose Upper Plate."

Suddenly Tex's harsh grating voice crashes the silence. "O. K., hist 'em, youse two!" Alas, it seems that there will soon be twenty notches instead of the eighteen on the gun.

But wily Dick, wise to the weaknesses of men, stealthily tickles Tex in the ribs as he raises his hands. Immediately Tex drops his gun with a clatter and rolls on the floor. "Ohl hol hol hol hahl hahl hahl hel" (monotonous, isn't it?) he giggles.

Suddenly he stops, realizing his mistake, and looks first into the steely muzzle of his double-crossing six shooter, and then at the cold grim expression on Dick's pan.

But where is Moonshine during all this excitement? Hiding under the table? Nope. Doing this dishes? Definitely not. Grabbing up a blanket and running out into the clear, moonlit night, she has built a smouldering fire out of Dick's porch and is rapidly sending smoke signals to the nearest town 700 miles away.

But let us return to the scene of action. Just as Dick sarcastically spits into Tex's eye, the sound of horse's hoofbeats is heard. A second later the door bursts open and—and—stand—stand—ing in the doorway is the proud, handsome, dashing, young(?) figure of Sheriff Herman Seigel of said neighboring town 700 miles away. He has come to the rescue in response to Moonshine's frantic smoke signals.

Sheriff Seigle, with that masterly touch that accompanies all his actions, quickly has the situation well in hand. (Heavy, isn't it?) .Tex is taken to the county jail, where, as far as we know, he is still awaiting trial. Dauntless and Moonshine, tired by this heroic epic, would accept no reward for their cool-headed, quick-thinking aid toward catching Tex and just settled back down to their quiet, usual pattern of life in Bleached Skeleton Gulch, and there they'll probably stay. (We hopel) They'd better. Such critters, if they lived in Auburn, probably would be brought before the presence of A.H.S. faculty, a fate worse than death.

THREE-RING BINK'S BIGGEST YARN

What ham is to eggs, what syrup is to pancakes and what an editor is to an annual—that's what Three Ring is to the show business. For forty years (man and boy) he's never known anything else, but now he's an ace booking agent.

Into Three Ring's office came drooping a big husky man (one of the few left). As he entered the door he spoke, "Three Ring, I'm open for an engagement. I'm the crème de la crème of all magicians. I'm the tops, pal. Here, take a card—any old card—I'll tear that card up in a thousand pieces, swallow the pieces, and then show you the same card restored again, folded up in your own watch case. Am I good!"

"Waidaminutel" yelled Three Ring, "Waidaminutel So you really think you're a third alarm blaze, eh? Hot stuff? Listen, sonny boy—back about thirty years ago, I was traipsing through the canebrakes with an anemic little carnival of my own. One day a weird looking coot stepped into my tent and allowed that he was a magician with an 18-karat disappearing act.

"The huge droop drooled as he said, 'My name's Mar-veeello, and here's my story! —I started out as a master bridge builder, but my first ninetynine bridges were BUSTS. (Plop!) Next I took up banking, but all my banks busted! Not to be outdaunted, I then plunged headlong, you might say, into ship building;—that busted.' (He never did like bottoms anyway.)

"'Later I majored in chemistry. I soon discovered the formula for the greatest explosive concentrate ever known to science, pfoof! The formula busted. But—while studying chemistry, I also discovered the most baffling liquid the world has ever known—and invisible and transparent paint!—Whoopee! So, having failed in everything else, I instantly decided to become a circus magician.

"'That's why I'm here, T.R.,' quoth Mar-vee-ello. 'And with this little old secret paint of mine, I'll be the greatest, toppest magician of all times. Even daylight saving time!

"To make sure of my find, I asked for a demonstration," said Three Ring. "With this unusual request in the back of his mind, Mar-vee-ello started to work painting himself with his vanishing cream. He had himself all painted except his head and hands. As he stood there numbly he asked me to witness this superastounding feat. He immediately picked his head up and placed it on the bookcase.

"This convinced me of his ability, but one question still lurked in the back of my empty head. How could he snap out of it?

"Mar-vee-ello explained, That's simpler than snapping into it, chum! I have my own secret invisible paint remover that restores me instantly, permanently!

"I handed him a two-week contract and explained my terms. 'Oboyoboyoboy! You're stupendous! You're colossal! You're even good! Sign right here, doc — for free meals, board, and twelve a week.' But Mar-vee-ello wanted ten!

"Mar-vee-ello was an immediate sensation throughout the country. He was superstupefying. He continued being the greatest sensation of all times for years. Everyone remarked, 'He's just something phon-enaminal.' If you ask me—go ahead—ask me!

"Some even thought of the swell way of eluding bill collectors and above all—relatives.

"Even the world of science was startled out of its wits at his uncanny wizardry. One remarked, 'To put it in jitterbug lingo, Emil, that rug-cutter is something out of this world!" "Onother relied, 'Yeah, man—he's a cute zoot!'

"Millions of statues were made of Mar-vee-ello and sold throughout the world. His name became a byword with social climbers of the day. Such as, 'I'm bored, Baron, why don't you do a Mar-vee-ello and disappear.'

"Finally he became so famous that he got conceited. In fact he got so egotistical that he demanded a raise. He told me, 'Them's my ultimatums, Tootsl I either get a flat fifteen a week, or I quit!'

"He had me stumped. Though realizing that the hand that was feeding me was biting me, too, out of the goodness of my heart I gave it to him. I warned him, 'Now don't be a 'Patsy' and spend it all in juke boxes!'

All the time the dumbfounded magician who had applied was absorbing all of this wacky! He finally got a word in edgeways, "Wottaman! Wottaman! Your yarn intrigues me, Three Ring — and then what happened to your mystifying, mesmerizing hamout of magic?"

"But podner," said Three Ring, "from here on my tale takes a cantankerous twist—a few months later we were playing an one-night stand in Nome, Alaska.

"Mar-vee-ello, now the headliner, went on to do his act. An eager audience of 496,781 odd souls (including the Eskimos) cheered madlyl Some even muttered, 'Blubl Blubl Ablubl Blubberl'

"Just by way of showing off, Mar-vee-ello painted a double dose of his disappearing paint all over himself from head to feet. 'I'll give these icicle benders the best show of my career 'cause I like my chocolate frosted!'

"But—and here's the tragedy of my tale—it was mighty cold up there and on account of that, the paint remover just wouldn't cooperate."

The mystified magician gulped and breathed easily, "And, and, and —"

"And so," continued T.R.,
"we never saw Mar-vee-ello again! It was impossible, impractical, and unprobable for him ever to reappear after that! So ended the country's greatest magician. He's probably still walking the streets of Nome, Alaskal But nobody knows the difference."

After this yarn was all wound the stupefied magician muttered, "Phew-w, that tops me, Three Ring, I'll spend the rest of my life raising Easter rabbits!"

Insurance Agent (Mr. Weathers): What did your grandparents die of? Client: I don't rightly recollect, but 'twarn't nothing serious.

A fellow at a sanitarium, standing a long time at the foot of a ladder, told a painter: "Take a good hold of your brush, I'm taking the ladder away."

DREAM ON

One broken dream is not the end of dreaming;
And shattered hope is not the end of hoping;
Beyond the storm and tempest, stars are gleaming;
Still build your castles, tho' your castles fall.
Though many dreams came tumbling to disaster,
And pain and heartache meet you down the years,
Still keep your faith, your hopes to master,
And never cry that you have
